Thousands of Men Fight Forest Fire

(By Associated Press.)
Spokane.—From the rocky mountains in Montana to the Columbia river in Washington, and up to 150 miles from the Canadian border, thousands of men are fighting against forest fires which seem to have nature on their side. The particularly dry hot summer weather of the past few months which reached its climax in thunder storms lately, has made the forest conditions critical. A fire in Kanika forest, eastern Washington last night had jumped the Idaho line, covering 750 acres. Threatening the forest experiment station. The fire, according to latest official reports, was headed northeast, through valuable government timber. A fire on Marble Creek in Idaho which has been burning two weeks is at last reported under control.

REED LEAD SLICED TO 6,100 BY LONG

Stiff Fights Shown in Other States as Count Nears Completion.

(By Associated Press.)

St. Louis, Aug. 3.—Senator James A. Reed leading by 6,587 votes, Breckinridge Long, opponent for democratic senatorial nomination, based hope on the official Friday count. In 5,225 precincts out of 3,548, the vote stood: Reed 139,321, Long 132,424. R. R. Brewster, republican nominee for U. S. Senator, has a plurality of about 20,000 over five opponents. William Sacks, light wight and road advocate, three progressive and one solid.

Memphis—Kenneth D. McKellar, junior senator from Tennessee, whose democratic nomination in Tennessee's state wide primary has been conceded, held a plurality of about 15,000 and a majority of more than 20,000 over his nearest opponent, Captain Gus T. Fitzhugh, when the vote was counted.

Topeka—The republican gubernatorial race apparently has been decided in favor of W. M. Morgan, Hutchinson newspaperman, who was leading, Ex-governor W. R. Stubbs, by about 13,500 votes.

Oklahoma City—A plurality in excess of 30,000 for Mayor J. C. Walton of Oklahoma City, democratic nominee for governor, was indicated Friday. Walton, anti-Klan, and farmer-labor choice, had more than 27,000 over R. H. Wilson, state superintendent of public instruction and alleged "invisible empire" candidate.

John Fields of Oklahoma City, republican nominee was assured majority of 12 to 1.

England Planning No Retraction of Debt to America

London—The attitude of the U. S. treasury department towards the allied debt question indicated by Washington dispatches saying the British note would not affect the American position in the payment of the debts, has attracted universal attention here. This, together with the emphatic statement by the chancellor of the exchequer in the house of commons that Great Britain has no intention of suspending any all-union of financial obligations to the United States gave a somewhat new direction to Friday morning's newspaper comment on inter-allied debts.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:

What is going to become of our future generation? The children are forbidden of using their coasters wagons on the sidewalk. Where are our children to play?

I, for one, don't believe in children riding on the main streets and running into people, but what harm is there in children playing on the side streets where people seldom walk? What are we tax payers paying for sidewalks for if the children can't enjoy themselves a little in front of our own homes where they don't molest anyone? A CITIZEN.

Elkhorn—The Wisconsin Press Association started Friday morning on an auto trip about the southwestern part of the state. The tour will end Monday with a banquet at the Capitol building, Madison.

Nationals Drive Irregulars Over Dungarvan Hills

Dublin—The irregulars have apparently abandoned intentions to make a stand on the banks of the River Suir. National troops entered Garrick-On-Suir Thursday, the 300 irregulars who had occupied the town fleeing across the hills toward Dungarvan. Before the evacuation they destroyed all the Suir bridges.

As the government troops had previously taken Cahin, west of Clonmel, they now dominate the way east through the Suir valley toward Waterford. Clonmel, menaced from two sides, cannot hold out long. The nationalists have already captured Ballyrobert castle, near Waterford.

Malinbeg, county Tipperary, Wexford, Kilkenny, and other small towns have been taken by government forces.

IN THE CAMPAIGN

William J. Morgan at Plattville said that a statement could not become a state issue. Promises of beer and wine are void so long as the 18th amendment is a part of the constitution. "When I hold up my hand and swear to support the constitution I shall not have any mental reservation," he said. Morgan speaks in towns of Grant county Friday and in Crawford and Vernon Saturday.

Mrs. Robert M. La Follette continued her campaign for the Socialist progressive ticket on Friday speaking at Richland Center.

Martha Paulsen, ex-secretary of state, said at Oshkosh that William J. Morgan exploded the bomb that told the truth about the nonpartisan league and its program in Wisconsin when Blaine said he stood on the platform with both feet.

John F. Baker, candidate for attorney general speaking at Camp Douglas, read a letter from Emil Seidel, Milwaukee socialist, saying the La Follette attitude was that of the socialists.

"SHAKE"

The hotel men have formed a national organization called "The Greeters." The right hand of good fellowship is the high sign of the order, and hospitality the keynote of its ritual. Which reminds us of that classic Americanism, "Shake!", once the hallmark of the pioneer West, when shaking a man's hand was a genuine expression of confidence in him, and a function not to be treated lightly.

Many cherished customs of the past are crowded out of the complex present, but at this store we believe hearts of 1922 are just as warm and most of us sincere "greeters" in spirit. Greetings! Whenever you enter our doors.

Leath's August Furniture Sale

BARGAINS GALORE!

Again We Claim

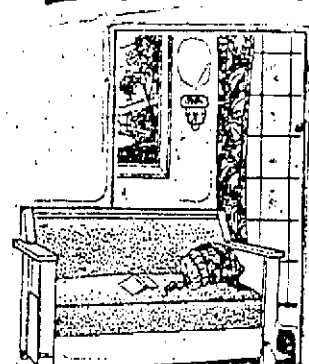

Our Sale Values are Biggest! Come In—Make Us Prove It!

NOT one but at least a score of shrewd shoppers who are competent judges of furniture values have told us our August Sale prices are the lowest, quality considered, to be found anywhere in the city. And the wonderful business we are doing is certainly more concrete evidence of the fact. Here's why Leath's prices are lowest—Leath's values are biggest. We buy for 15 live, aggressive furniture stores—an immense volume—and quite naturally, because of this huge buying power, we buy on jobbers' price quotations, considerably lower than the individual store pays. So we can and do sell for less. And now, in addition to lowest regular prices, we offer a Sale discount of from 10 to 40 per cent.

REMEMBER this: We are not trying to get rid of old merchandise, furniture we don't want around. The Sale savings are on every piece we have on our big display floors, excepting only nationally advertised goods on which manufacturers control retail prices. No matter whether you need an entire home outfit or just a piece or two, now is the time to buy it—save from 10% to 40%. You have a wonderful selection to choose from—absolutely the biggest values you can find anywhere—then you get the other advantages of Leath Service, satisfying credit terms if desired, guaranteed merchandise and the kind of treatment you want. Buy furniture NOW—at Leath's—SAVE! You'll never do better!

CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

That's What Millions of Housewives Do

BEST BY TEST

—They know that Good Baking Powder can't be sold for less; that "More for the Money" means bake-day failures, waste of time and money; that Calumet means economy.

The World's Greatest Baking Powder

1922 IS BANNER YEAR FOR PEACHES

All Varieties Reach Local Market—Corn Drops to 15 Cents.

Peaches—Elberta, Michigan and other varieties—large, ripe, juicy and full of flavor, will be one of the favorite fruits this year, for like cherries and apples, the crop is to be unusually large and good. Peaches have already been in for some weeks, but the best are now beginning to appear. Like cherries, also, many of the large ones will go to waste. Peaches are one of the most useful of fruits and the little waste that is left after canning, can be used for peach butter.

In local grocery stores, that are being sold in small baskets for 20, 25 and 30 cents, and are also shown in bushel baskets.

Apples are still at the low mark of 3 cents a pound, and they will probably remain for a lower price would make it a nuisance to handle them. Some varieties bring 6 and 8 cents, but it is assured that this year will see none of last year's exorbitant prices of 10 and 12 cents a pound.

Berry Season Ending

Plums sell for 15 and 20 cents a dozen, 45 cents a large basket and 25 and 30 cents a quart basket. They are of a good quality. The few blueberries remaining will sell for 35 cents a quart box, while blackberries, on their last few days, are 25 and 35 cents a box. Cantaloupes have reached a low price and none are left. They will probably remain there for the rest of the summer. Of course there are many for higher prices, and honeydews bring 55 and 40 cents each. Bananas are still 9 and 10 cents a pound.

Pears have dropped 10 cents a dozen and are now 45 and 50 cents. The few oranges remaining in market command a higher price because of their scarcity. They are 40 cents a dozen and higher. Few will be received in any of the stores now until fall. Lemons are 35 and 40 cents.

A different and better variety of watermelons has been received here this past week, bringing a correspondingly higher price. They average around 50 cents, while they were 35 last week.

Green grapes are more numerous this second week of their season, and sell for 25 and 35 cents a pound. California cherries are still around 40 and 50 cents a pound. Damson plums are 50 cents a box.

Corn in Full Swine

Vegetable prices change but little from week to week, with the exception of sweet corn, now in full swing of its season, brings 15 cents a dozen, while last week it was 10 cents. Cabbage has dropped from 30 to 5 cents and carrots have taken a similar drop. Head lettuce is 35 and 50 cents a head, and heads sell for 3 cents a bunch. Cabbage has dropped from 4 and 5 cents a pound to the unusually low price of 2 1/2 cents a pound, some stores selling it for 5 cents a head. At this price, merchants cannot dispose of it fast enough, it is being brought in by farmers in such quantities. Cucumbers have decreased in price and some, selling for 15 cents last week, can now be purchased at two for that price. Onions are from 7 to 10 cents a pound, depending on the variety. Beans, green and wax, are still 10 cents a pound. New potatoes have dropped from 45 to 40 cents a peck, although some places still ask 48 and 50 cents. Tomatoes are about as numerous as cabbage, and are selling equally as low—5 cents a pound, 10 cents a bushel-sized box.

Butter brings from 34 to 50 cents a pound in Janesville stores, while eggs are from 22 to 30 and more.

GIRLS TO SWIM

The usual Friday night swim will be taken by 25 Y. W. C. A. girls this week. They have been offered the use of a dressing room and the bath at Lincoln Center, Clear Lake. Miss Fern Constantine acts as director.

BIGGEST AND BEST YET

VICTIMS OF HAY FEVER START ON ANNUAL JAUNTS

Seeking health instead of fish, the annual pilgrimage of many Janesville residents to Northern Wisconsin lakes and woods is now on, for August, the month which, for many, is here again, they most attacks of hay fever, one of the most irritable diseases known which is never fatal but brings much suffering. Few cases of positive cures have yet been recorded, and the most successful way to treat it is a change of climate. Some go to the wilderness, others to the seashore and others travel at sea.

According to information gained from doctors and Dr. Fred B. Welch, city health officer, hay fever is caused by the irritation of the hypersensitive mucous membrane of the nose and throat made by the pollen from various grasses and plants. Other causes of irritation are dust and other things in the air, but the pollen of the rye is given credit for most of the trouble.

People most susceptible to it are those of a neurotic disposition. The pollen causes obstructions of the nose passages and results in constant sneezing and watering of the eyes, and many of our thoughts of the Y. W. C. A. Older Girls' council, the council met Thursday night and decided to secure cars to take a dozen or more.

WHO WINS IN THE ELECTIONS?

There are 1,000,000 persons in Wisconsin eligible to vote. They are men and women of 21 years of age and citizens, all of them. The highest vote we have ever had was two years ago when 500,000 ballots were cast. In a three cornered fight among candidates for any office it is therefore possible for a man to receive a little over one-tenth of the eligible vote and be nominated and elected. It is essential that the American citizen should vote—just as necessary in the primary as in the election. In Wisconsin where a nomination is about equivalent to an election if on the republican ticket, it is even more important that the citizen should vote at the primary election.

The election this year is likely to be decided by those who stay at home. Elections have been decided that way before. The "stay-at-home" are the complainers about the failure of representative government. It would be refreshing to have an election for the nomination of candidates where the percentage of the vote was large enough to really decide something with a finality.
It is a startling revelation that only one-third of the vote in the state has been cast at any time. It might be asked how it comes about. First comes complete indifference to politics of a great part of the citizenry. Another is the profound disaffection of the new woman voter. This does not at first seem to be the case but there are thousands of women who have never voted and do not want to vote. This is the year when the percentage of women voters should be increased to the utmost limit. There is a great opportunity for the women of the state in the job of reducing the stay at home vote.

WHAT MADE LINCOLN PRESIDENT

Freeport, Ill., will celebrate the 54th anniversary of the debate between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas at that place on August 20th.
This was the climax of the debate. Here it was that Abraham Lincoln asked the question of Douglas which made the senator flounder and the manner of handling the situation turned the whole country to the lonely person from Springfield and to discover that he was a great man among them. That question asked by Lincoln was, "Can the people of a United States territory in a lawful way, against the wish of any citizen of the United States, exclude slavery from its limits prior to the formation of a state constitution?"

Douglas replied that the people could and that slavery could not exist a day without the support of local police regulations. It was lame and inconclusive. To the great audience about equally divided, it was apparent that "Old Abe" had cornered the "Little Giant" and was having the better of the argument. To this debate came thousands from everywhere, east, west north and from the south. Rock and near by counties, sent many of its people over the border to hear the national debate. Lincoln and Douglas were candidates for the senate. While Lincoln was defeated he was yet the real victor. He made the republican party possible, cohered all the elements opposed to the spread of slavery and furnished from his debates the sentences and accepted paragraphs which became the doctrine of the people who elected him four years later to the presidency and defeated Stephen A. Douglas.

It is quite right that there should be a celebration of the event and Freeport has determined that it shall be well done. We wander away from the Lincoln who gave to America so much and set the nation on a new course.

THE ALCOHOLIC WARD DISAPPEARS

While there are reiterated that prohibition has been of no visible benefit and that we have more drunks than under the beneficent shadow of the saloon, medical men in convention, exchanging ideas and information seem to think differently. It was not in a discussion of alcoholism that the information about the disappearance of that form of sickness was revealed but in a scientific examination of another subject. Pneumonia was the subject of a learned paper covering the latest discoveries about this disease, at the convention of the American Medical Association recently held at St. Louis. In the discussion following, one of the leading physicians of New York city, Dr. Alexander Lambert, is quoted as saying in substance: There has been a great change in pneumonia in New York city. When all the alcohol that was desired was available, one-third of the forty thousand patients in Bellevue hospital were in the alcoholic wards, with or without delirium tremens. A large group of these alcoholic patients had pneumonia and the death rate for them was 66 per cent, as against 23 per cent for

Experts Study Coal Shortage

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington — The protracted coal strike has set experts of the Federal government studying anew the problem of the storage of coal on a large scale.

Aside from the expense of extra handling and equipment are two major reasons why coal cannot successfully be stored. The first is that when exposed to the air, coal gradually loses its combustibility—that is, its burning and heating qualities. The second reason is that, through some chemical or physical action of the air on coal taken from the mine, the product generates heat of its own and spontaneous combustion results. This is one of the mysterious forces of nature which has baffled scientists and engineers. Without the application of external heat or inflammatory matter, a pile of coal sometimes will ignite itself and burn with dangerous intensity.

This phenomenon is encountered most frequently at sea. Steamers must store large supplies of coal in their bunkers. The frequent result is bunker fire, caused almost always by spontaneous combustion.

Every American who reads newspapers and learns of coal strikes and shortages of coal due to car congestion or inadequate transportation facilities has asked the question: Why not keep mines running and store coal in piles? The foregoing are reasons.

These obstacles to coal storage mean coal cannot be mined until there is a quick market for it.
The demand for domestic coal for heating and cooking is fairly steady and can be reckoned upon, so it is possible for mines to keep a steady supply of coal moving to retail dealers. But for the great industrial consumers the task is more difficult. Factories have boom periods and slack periods. Their demands for coal vary. The result is that the coal to fill a large order for a mill or a public utility is not taken out of the ground until the coal company has obtained the order.

In boom times when factories are running full blast, orders come fast. Then follow feverish efforts to get the coal. Here another factor intervenes. It is no use to bring coal up above ground unless cars are available to take it away. With everybody demanding coal at once, railroads cannot supply cars rapidly enough to take care of demand.

All these circumstances point to the desirability of devising a plan for coal storage.

There has been one extensive, successful experiment in this country along lines heretofore found feasible in England. The Illinois Traction company which operates a network of interurban electric railroads throughout the state has established a system of subaqueous storage. It has been learned that coal can be stored under water. This keeps air from working its detrimental effects on the coal and prevents spontaneous combustion. It is a curious fact, however, that a small quantity of water will not prevent, but stimulates spontaneous combustion. Merely to moisten coal or have it half covered will set it afire. Many bunker fires on ships arise from leaks. To affect proper and safe subaqueous storage, coal must be wholly submerged.

The reason this has not been resorted to more generally is that such a storage plant is expensive. The Illinois Traction has vast concrete lined basins. The handling of the coal is multiplied because it must be mined, hauled to the storage bins, dumped in flooded. Then when coal from the bins is needed, the water must be partially drained off, the coal hoisted and transported again to the point of consumption. However, in some cases, the cost of such storage is regarded as well spent in that it provides insurance against suspension due to shortage of production, strikes or interference with distribution.

Recent investigations by the bureau of mines reveal that the dangers of spontaneous combustion are not so great as they have been considered in the past. The most recent study, made by O. P. Hood, chief mechanical engineer of the bureau, shows the combustion is caused by surface heating of the coal. The contact between oxygen in air and inflammable elements in coal causes the heating which increases the point of combustion. Mr. Hood points out the surface heating by the hot air of the coal is tremendous. Each lump presents a surface and so does each powdered grain. The normal coal pile is not so tightly packed as to prevent the passage of the oxygen-bearing air through interstices to practically every particle of the coal.

When all these minute surfaces exposed to the air are added by Mr. Hood he gets the astounding total of approximately one acre of surface to every ton of coal.

Two remedies are suggested by Mr. Hood. First, store large lumps of coal. In the lump, the coal is naturally packed so densely that air does not penetrate. Lumps of nut size and under give greatest air surface per ton. He suggests that by more careful handling, coal can be brought up and stored in large blocks.

A second suggestion is that coal be artificially compressed. Coal dust is pressed into coal briquets as a commercial proposition now, for the purpose of making it easier to handle. Compression on a larger scale and into large blocks is suggested to prevent deterioration due to ex-posure to the air and to prevent spontaneous combustion. Fine coal or coal dust can be compressed so that a ton can be put in the form of a cubic yard in size.

Further, Mr. Hood's investigations show, air ground stored coal influences the coal. Coal stored in a hot place will deteriorate and ignite more quickly than coal stored in a cool place.
This suggests possibility of cold storage of coal.
Mr. Hood has found that foreign matter in coal, such as sulphur, will hasten spontaneous ignition. By screening and careful cleaning of coal intended to be stored, this could be eliminated. His investigations, accordingly, have convinced him that proper methods and care can make the storage of coal on a large scale a feasible enterprise.

Figures prepared by the geological survey show that the United States owns in the public domain more than 100,000,000,000 tons of un-mined coal. It has been suggested the government proceed to mine this coal and place it in scientific storage for use in meeting shortages and emergencies in the privately owned coal industry.

the nonalcoholic group. Now "one does not see the thoroughly poisoned, chronically soaked alcoholic person in the hospital," and the change in the pneumonia situation has been correspondingly great.

New York city has been notorious for the laxness of its enforcement of the prohibitory laws.
Notwithstanding this fact the alcoholic patient, who was common in the old days, has virtually disappeared from the big city hospital, with the result that pneumonia is much less frequently fatal.

Doesn't this testimony throw an interesting side light on the booze situation in New York?

One more strike and it will be three. The public will be entirely out of them.

It may have been a long road to Tipperary but the Free Staters got there at last.

The murder center of the United States has again returned to the vicinity of Los Angeles.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

QUESTIONING
You shall wonder as you meet Drunkards reeling down the street, Helpless cripples and the blind, Human wrecks of every kind, Living on from day to day, Why your loved one couldn't stay.

These are thoughts which always come When the heart with grief is numb, "Why," the anguished mother cries, With the tears still in her eyes,
"Must my baby go away?
And some sinful creature stay?"

Thus rebellious in your grief, You may falter in belief And your blinded eyes will see No just cause why this should be.
But the passing years will show Why my baby go away.

Hold your faith and bear the pain, Questioning your God in vain.
None of us has power to know Who should stay and who should go.
Hold this everlasting truth—Heaven has need of lovely youth.

Think of this when you are tried:
If the wretched one died, Then would death to us be sent Always as a punishment;
But the passing from the earth Is more beautiful than birth.

Who's Who Today

THOMAS DEWITT CUYLER

Thomas De Witt Cuyler in his position as chairman of the Association of American Railway executives is perhaps better informed than any other man in the country, particularly from the viewpoint of the railway heads, than any other man.

"I look at the whole situation," he stated in a signed article given out recently, "I believe that the result of this strike will be that the railroad managers and employees will come to a better understanding and better than that the rail having been clarified they will be able to work in more effective cooperation than before."

Cuyler is sixty-eight years old. He was born in Philadelphia and was graduated from Yale in 1874. He took his law degree later and was admitted to the bar in 1878. He was one of the advocate members of the Pennsylvania National Guard. He is the director of the Pennsylvania railroad, the Equitable Life Assurance Society and served other corporations.

Cuyler married in 1881. His home is in Hayward, Pennsylvania.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

What Determines Our Vote?
A chief stock in trade of the professional politician is the appeal to prejudice. He becomes an adept at misrepresenting issues and candidates, in knowing just what appeals will influence blocs of voters, making promises without regard to the truth or the possibility of carrying them out.

So-and-so, the professional passes the word around, is a millionaire and a snob. He has no sympathy with the workers. Somebody else, the word goes out, is a poor man, to be sure, but he likes the "boots" on the men. He would be an agent for the trusts.

"Railroad rates are too high," one candidate says. "Don't you want them reduced? Elect me and I'll reduce them." The price of farm products is low because of a conspiracy against the farmer," another candidate says.
"Elect me, and see prices go up." "Wages should be higher and prices of commodities lower," a third says. "That's my platform." We fall for plans just as susceptible of fulfillment as those in every campaign. Usually we don't think we are falling for them. We always regard ourselves as perfectly reasonable.
It's the other fellow who is swayed by prejudice.
It would be a good idea if every voter should ask himself at these points: "What am I doing just what considerations influenced him in casting his ballot? If he were frank with himself, he would be surprised."—Kansas City Star.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO
August 4, 1882 — The Brook brigade, which has been practicing a grand deal recently, will give two exhibitions, one August 12, the other August 14.—Mr. Thomas Lupton is adding a length of 16 feet to the tower of St. Mark's church, whose business is increasing enough to make the addition necessary.—The Janesville bottle factory will be in operation next week Wednesday.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
August 4, 1892 — The Light Infantry of this city is now in camp at Camp Douglas, and some of the members had a narrow escape there a few days ago when they attempted to catch a ride on a train and were dragged some distance —John Marshall, well-known machinist of this city, died this morning of lock-jaw, which started from a silver in his toe.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
August 4, 1902 — A large number of Gideons were in the city yesterday, conducting services at the Y. M. C. A. and at the joint evening service in the park in the evening. Frank Garlin, national president, was the main speaker.— Liverngton of the city have raised their prices.
Due to the high cost of oats and the elaborate buggies now asked for.

TEN YEARS AGO
August 4, 1912 — The Third ward carnival, on Jackson street between Second and Third, continues popular and Officer Morrissey was called on last night to handle the crowds. Robert Carle is the moving spirit of the whole affair, while tents of side-shows and other attractions are conducted by young people of that ward.

THE LORD SUSTAINS

They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.

DON'T BAKE THE BABY
This time of year the catching cold phobia makes things pretty tough for babies. Especially for the sickly baby and most particularly the baby that happens to have, let us say, adenoid enlargement or chronic phinitis or chronic bronchitis. Such babies suffer a great deal of discomfort and heat that they do normal babies.
It is this time of year, in the congested city districts, where a prolific foreign population flourishes, that many babies are literally baked to death wrapped in incredible layers of swaddling which the ignorant parents believe necessary to make the babies grow straight and strong. That seems a very absurd thing, but out-own corset wearing women are quite absurd in their notions. "Just corset mold or preserve or develop a good figure, ignorance at home sometimes wears a lot of fine airs."

Young babies have exceedingly efficient heat generating equipment.
They turn a large amount of food into heat and are the freest opportunity to dispose of the surplus heat of their bodies in hot weather. Especially the babies that are not perfectly well. Yet—well, here's a sample query that may be taken as representative of many:
Please tell me if a child three years old and subject to bronchial trouble should wear wool shirts and wool stockings all summer. He gets that cough and bronchial trouble every time he catches cold.—Mrs. J. D.

But any woman would say by all means keep the baby sweltering and pining through the summer—if you do keep him through the summer. But an intelligent woman could figure out a better way. The child should not be kept in wool shirts and wool stockings in very hot weather.
And I urge her to dress the child in nothing else than thin rompers or some sensible garment and put on shirt or stockings on him at all in hot weather. If he must have a shirt on when company comes or something, make it a cotton shirt and let it sit him like the famous shirt whose wearer's mamma did not use that shirt or stockings on him at all in hot weather. If he must have a shirt
on when company comes or something, make it a cotton shirt and let
it sit him like the famous shirt whose wearer's mamma did not use that shirt or stockings on him at all in hot weather.

Every baby should have a long air bath every day in hot weather. A small or trial size ditty is plenty of clothing for an infant in hot weather.
If the baby is subject to colds, three years of age really endure exposure to cold, moderate cold, better than you and I do, because they have a much better heat generating apparatus of their own. The mother must keep the heat much more seriously than you or I would if we were subjected to the awful swaddling they have to put up with. Imagine you or me putting on wool shirts, wool stockings, belly bands, chest protectors and the like to go out and mow the lawn or to go to dinner on a torrid night!

The catching cold phobia is vicious enough in its effects in cold weather.
It is deplorable that the babies should be the victims of this same sorry old obsession in the dog days. The infant mortality, which is still much too high in the hot weather season, is due in part directly to excessive heat.

Babies are not built to endure excessive heat.

Give 'em the air as much as you can and don't stuff the poor little things with unnecessary clothing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Disappointing a Lady.
Dear Doctor—My daughter, twelve years old. My face is covered with freckles and I should like to know whether you could kindly suggest a remedy of some kind to remove them which may apply to remove them without injuring my skin.
Yours respectfully,
LILLIAN E.

Answer—If there were such a remedy it should be offered to tell you about it. But, honestly, there is no such remedy which is safe. I don't mind suggesting a remedy of some kind, however, ladies who are freckled in their early teens seldom fail to blotch later in life. Freckles are due to the franklin will fade all in due time.

Kindly advise whether olive oil or coconut butter makes will lessen or strengthen the legs.—J. J.

Answer—No. The popular notion that local application of rubbing with oil or fats or other substances will fatten, develop or strengthen the part so treated is an error. Fat is formed by humbug-assurance. As a physiological fact no nutritive material or fatening material or fat of any kind description can be absorbed through the skin.

The Fearless Beverage
Please tell me whether warm milk fresh from the cows is good for girls to drink freely each night and morning. What are the best forms of exercise for girls of my age (14)? Miss L. W.

Answer—Yes. If any beverage under the sun can be reasonably called the health and beauty beverage, it is fresh milk immediately after milking and before cooling, and save only cold water, that is the most tempting beverage I can imagine. Girls of my age should swim, play tennis, basketball, girls' baseball, skate, ride bicycle, hike (as Girl Scouts) do some exercise or fancy dancing, systematic work and a bit of tumbling.

Dr. Brady will answer all addressed letters pertaining to health.

are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail stamped, self-addressed envelope to be returned. Address: Dr. Wm.

Q. Which is correct—burnsides or sideburns? H. E. R.
A. The name descriptive of a style of whiskers is burnsides. They were worn by General Ambrose Burnside, and his name was given to them.

Q. Why was a costermonger so called? F. R.
A. The name is a corruption of costard, monger or costard seller, costard being an Old English name for the apple.

Q. When the sun reaches its northern solstice, how long is it above the horizon at the Arctic Circle? S. B. T.
A. The Naval Observatory says that allowing for the effect of refraction and the sun's semidiameter, some portion of the sun's disk will be continuously above the horizon at the Arctic Circle for about a month in June and July.

Q. Who was the attorney for the miners in the authentic arbitration in 1902? H. J. W.
A. Clarence S. Darrow was chief counsel for the mine workers in the authentic arbitration of 1902.

Q. What is the meaning of "a cycle of Cathay"? H. McC.
A. In China a cycle covers a period of 60 years, hence the poet.
There may have been that definite period of time in mind when he expressed "Better 50 years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay."

Q. Did Charles A. Dana ever do

Swat the Fly!

This is the time to fight the fly.
The house fly is a pest and a filth is started every 11 to 14 days. When you take into consideration that the average house fly laid by an individual fly at one time averages about 120 you will realize how important it is to eliminate every possible means to eliminate this pest.

flies occupy no place in the economy of man. They must be fought and fought in the right way. To do this is the duty of every community, its members, and of every individual to the community.

WUXTRY! WATER COMES HIGH AT FONDY GARAGE

Fondy du Lac—Three men, not residents of Fond du Lac county, paid $100 here for four barrels of colored Lake Winnebago water, believing it to be whiskey. It became known here Thursday. The sellers, who made the deal in a garage, claimed the supposed whiskey was shipped from Ashland, and allowed the purchasers to tap the barrels any place they wanted to in order to test the genuineness of the "whiskey." It is supposed samples which proved to be real whiskey, were siphoned from a bottle concealed in the pocket of a light overcoat, which was worn by one of the salesmen.

RISE OR FALL OF HARDING REGIME NOW IN BALANCE

RAIL STRIKE SITUATION BRINGS CLIMAX TO HIS LEADERSHIP.

ACTION THIS WEEK

President May Leave Solution of Crisis to Rail Labor Board.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright, 1922, by The Janesville

Washington—President Harding's dilemma in the rail strike brings a climax in his influence and leadership. Not merely those interested directly in industrial control but all who see in the immediate future the fate of Mr. Harding's whole administration with respect to congress are watching the chief executive's every move.

Mr. Harding is by nature a peace-maker, patient and tolerant. He is disappointed that the spirit of compromise doesn't pervade disputants as it does the whole philosophy of life. Force and violence may temporarily triumph but in the end they defeat their own objects. So reasons Mr. Harding. With all that has happened since 1914 to vindicate principles vital to civilization, there is an acute feeling of regret that the voice of reason didn't stay the hand of passion the great war. Somebody has to compromise unless a war is fought to a finish and the staggering burden of the world today cause little gratification anywhere. Will the industrial crisis be a war to a finish and leave the public vanquished and both sides injured? Even the victor in the world war suffered more than the defeated. Mr. Harding's appeal to the railroad executives was based on the idea of saving the American people from further damage by a compromise which might be distasteful to both parties to the dispute but would prevent suffering to the greatest number.

Solution With Board
Now the president is faced with necessity of taking a step further in this same line of reasoning. Threats that he will take over the railroads at this time are mere conjecture. Mr. Harding remembers the war administration of railroads and the price the country paid in taxes thereafter.

What is the way out? The feeling is growing here that the solution lies with the railroad labor board itself, whose authority the railroads and the workmen have at last pledged themselves to uphold. The seniority dispute involved "working conditions." Under the transportation act the labor board can take jurisdiction over such a dispute of its own motion, or it can obtain jurisdiction after the men go back to work and the inevitable dispute about restoring seniority rights arises. The labor board now has been made supreme. As the "agency of the government," both parties respect it once more. It would not be surprising if the next move came through the board. The latter could take cognizance of the acceptance by both sides of point number one, namely, willingness to obey all decisions of the board. With that as a base, the board can ask the men to return to work and the roads to take them back.

Restored Seniority Before
As for the disposition eventually of the seniority question, it is not a new problem. The railroads have again

GREAT DECREASE IN COAL VIA THE LAKE

Milwaukee—The Milwaukee harbor commission issued figures Thursday showing the immense decrease in the amounts of anthracite and bituminous coal received in Milwaukee by the Great Lakes this year. Figures disclose that up to Aug. 1, 1921, 595,165 tons of anthracite were received whereas for the same period this year only 700 tons have come to port. For bituminous the figures are 1,500,233 tons, received up to August 1, 1921, but with 175,000 tons received up to August 1, 1922.

and again in the past restored seniority rights after they had taken on new workers. If the labor board decides the rights should be restored, the railroads would have to obey. There is every reason to believe that the board will not require an humiliating reversal of their own motion as might have been the case if they accepted Mr. Harding's proposal outright.

The railroad board itself has not issued a decision on seniority rights as the railroad executives and their spokesmen would like to have the public infer. Chairman Hooper gave a newspaper interview on the subject but in view of the peculiar composition of the labor board, Mr. Hooper does not speak the views of the board. Certainly he did not speak on the seniority question for the three members of the board and it is difficult to say whether he spoke for the other two members of the public group on the board. The matter never came to a vote—it was a personal expression which does not bind the board. It may well happen that Mr. Hooper might vote with the three railroad management's members on the board, but if the two public members voted with the three labor members the vote would be five to three in favor of restoration of seniority rights. Mr. Hooper may be committed by a public statement, but the position of President Harding as expressed in his letter to the railroads and the employees would have great weight in any decision on seniority which might be rendered by the whole board of nine members.

Action Before End of Week.
The question now is whether the strikers will go back to work in the confident expectation that the labor board will see that their rights are secured. They are bound by their acceptance, however, of point one which puts them on record as willing to obey the labor board. Mr. Harding proceeds slowly and is pondering the whole situation and particularly this form of solution. Action will come before the end of the week. Few people believe the president will let the situation drag on a week more without a new move. The executives and thus move matters closer to a peaceful ending by affording both sides another way out.

Road Work Takes Help from Shops

Milwaukee—The demand for men in the building industry and for road construction is causing considerable labor turnover in shops and men are induced by higher pay and outdoor work to quit their shop jobs during the hottest part of the summer, according to the July report of the federal employment office here. Many complaints are being received from farmers that they have been left to work on the roads.

Calls for Help in July show a decrease of 1,500 compared with June. A slackening of business was noticed in the automobile industry as the ten of last season's output were reached. Work on cars and new models for winter and next year's season is not fully started.

In the women's division a poorly number of applicants for work were wives of men on strike whose income has stopped. The employment office reports it has placed 4,843 men out of 5,735 who applied.

Police Battle Murder Suspect; Three Are Killed

San Francisco—Walter Castor, murder suspect sought by police, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Castor and police detective Tim Bailey were shot and killed and detective Ernest Gable wounded in a pistol fight at Castor's home here Thursday according to a police report.

The police detail went to Castor's home following a "tip" he had returned there after being sought since early in May. The shooting followed. Castor was being sought in connection with shooting and killing of Mrs. Anna Wilkens, wife of Henry Wilkens, garage owner on the night of May 30. A murder in connection with the shooting.

Historical Ass'n to List Farms in Family 60 Years

Rock county people in possession of homesteads which have been in or more are eligible to listing in a census of old homesteads to be published by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Madison, as an appendix to "The History of Agriculture." The farm to be listed, must have been improved or made into a farm by the present owner or by one of his or her ancestors.

The use of Lombardy poplar trees as lightning rods to protect buildings in southwestern Wisconsin dates back to 1832. The historical society says, quoting J. W. Murphy, Plattville, as follows:

"The Lombardy poplar was introduced by Rev. Samuel Mazzuchelli, an Italian missionary, who came to this district in 1832. It was in general use by early settlers as a lightning rod. It had long been used in Lombardy for that purpose."

The Lombardy poplar is commonly seen in lines in front of the houses and towering high above the trees in that section of the state. While not particularly ornamental, it may be that the pioneers were wise in planting them, the society says.

Women to Issue G. O. P. Papers at Janesville Fair

Republican literature favoring Morgan and Gantfield will be distributed from a booth at the Janesville fair by members of a women's committee, according to plans made at a preliminary organization meeting Thursday afternoon at Library hall.

Women will be in charge to give information to progressive women voters as to the methods used in voting at the primaries.

Also it was planned to have a women's reception committee on hand to welcome Attorney William J. Morgan when he comes to Janesville, Friday, August 11, to give an address. Mrs. C. A. Sanborn was made chairman of the reception committee.

Mrs. Walter Helms, temporary chairman of the organization and Mrs. O. W. Alton was elected secretary.

Literature of all kinds is on hand and the women from now on plan to conduct an aggressive campaign for the whole republican ticket.

JEFFERSON

Jefferson—At a recent meeting of the local fire department it was voted to entertain the firemen of the state at their 30th annual convention and tournament which will be held in June 1923. President Henry Wessel of Oconomowoc was present and said that as the association was organized in this city it was but proper that Jefferson should have the tournament in 1923, not having entertained the firemen in 22 years. As the corresponding secretary should come from the tournament city, Henry C. Roessler was the unanimous choice of the meeting. The recording secretary is Benjamin R. Burl.

The Jefferson county teachers' institute will be held at Jefferson Aug. 15-19. All teachers expecting to teach in this county have been requested to be present. Prof. M. A. Binsweller, Milwaukee, normal, and others will assist in making this institute a success.

Miss Theresa Dwyer, Baraboo, and Mrs. Mary Moltz, Madison, spent a few days recently with Miss Florence Ladell.

ST. PAUL REPORTS MANY MEN WORKING

Milwaukee—Several hundred men have been employed by the St. Paul road for car repair shops here during the last week and put to work according to representations of railroad officials here Thursday. Leaders of the unions minimize this report, declaring only a few score of men have been put to work. The car repair shops normally employ about 1,200 men.

STONE WORKER FALLS 35 FEET TO DEATH

Machine—While engaged in laying a heavy coping stone on the new addition to the Hansche school, three miles south of here, Julius Schulz and Michael Mangano, lost their balance and crashed to the ground with the stone, a distance of 35 feet. Mangano died from his injuries while Schulz is said to be fatally hurt.

Chicago May Buy Busses to Break Street Car Strike

Chicago—The fourth day of Chicago's street car strike was representative of the car companies and strike leaders in an apparent deadlock over terms for a settlement. Meanwhile Mayor Thompson and the city council were considering plans for purchase and operation of city owned motor busses through appropriation from the $30,000,000 traction fund. In a communication to the council Thursday the mayor suggested appropriation of $3,000,000 for the purpose, and such a resolution was introduced. Under the mayor's plan the busses would be operated on five cent fares.
